NDIS STORY HEADLINE

A decade of NDIS: Transformation for people with disability

Ten years ago, 1 July, four trial sites across Australia opened their doors and the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) started to deliver its work. There are now almost 600,000 NDIS participants who have reported increased freedom and control over their lives to go out in their community, to work, make friends and spend their time as they choose. Minister for the NDIS, the Hon. Bill Shorten, says being the Minister responsible for delivering this Scheme is one of the proudest moments of his career. “The introduction of NDIS has seen a fundamental shift in the way we support people with disability,” Minister Shorten said. “The NDIS is a life-changing piece of economic and social policy, and it is our duty to make sure it’s here for generations to come. “Today’s anniversary is only possible because of the grassroots movement of the disability community and Every Australian Counts who galvanised thousands and called for the NDIS. Only a Labor Government was able to deliver change.

The term Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) refers to practices and policies undertaken by corporations that are intended to have a positive influence on the society and the world. Support Foundation believes that as an organization supporting most vulnerable people in the society under the guidelines of National Disability Insurance Agency (NDIA), we can do more to support people with disabilities, their family members/carers and other members of community supporting the most vulnerable. Hence, our team has decided to share a portion of our profit to engage in Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) in several ways:
